

Dicker For Truce In Korea Urged By UN Secretary

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y.—(AP)—United Nations radio transmitters today beamed to Communist China and North Korea an urgent appeal by U. N. Secretary General Trygve Lie for Korean cease-fire negotiations based on a Russian proposal for a 38th parallel truce.

Top-ranking U. N. officials acted swiftly after Soviet delegate Jacob A. Malik proposed discussion among the "belligerents" for a cease-fire, armistice and "mutual withdrawal" from the parallel dividing North and South Korea. But diplomats at the U. N. and western foreign ministries displayed wariness.

Malik's proposal came on the eve of the Korean war's first anniversary. Lie quickly issued a statement urging immediate negotiations for a cease-fire to be followed by United Nations discussion of the political issues involved.

The president of the U. N. Assembly, Nasrallah Entezam of Iran, planned to ask Malik at once to expand on his proposal—the only U. N. delegate to indicate so far a direct approach to the Soviet representative. Entezam is head of the U. N. good offices committee which has been trying without success since February to get an answer from Red China.

Long after Malik's proposal became public, Peiping was silent on it. Red China propaganda broadcasts yesterday were made up of the usual anti-American statements urging "utter defeat" of the U. N. forces in Korea.

Malik's proposal, the first from the Communist side which did not impose truce conditions favorable to the Chinese Communists, made headlines throughout the world.

Strain Too Heavy

Western leaders said they hoped the proposal was genuine. Moscow's two official newspapers printed the Malik text without comment, but thus emphasized it's Kremlin origin.

In Washington, the U. S. planned talks with its U. N. allies to discuss a common front. It indicated that unless Red China approved the Malik proposal, the move doesn't count for much.

In Hong Kong, Far East observers who watch the China scene from the island said they felt certain Malik could speak for Peiping in suggesting a cease-fire. Some Chinese there expressed belief the Soviet delegate was making propaganda, but the majority said it looked like the beginning of efforts by Peiping to pull itself out of the Korean morass, where the strain may have become more than Red China now is willing to endure.

India announced she would support any cease-fire move.

United States Weighs Malik's Peace Feelers

Soviet Propaganda Play Indicated

BY JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON — (AP)—The United States looked to Moscow and Peiping today for proof that Jacob Malik's call for a 38th-parallel truce was a real peace bid and not just another Soviet propaganda play.

Pending definite evidence, state department and other administration officials appeared extremely wary of the proposition which the Kremlin's envoy to the United Nations put forth in a speech Saturday.

Ready To Negotiate

This country, however, declared its readiness to play its full share in ending the fighting if the proposal is sincere. And in order to nail down that point it seemed probable that U. S. Ambassador Alan Kirk at Moscow would be instructed shortly to ask the Kremlin what cease-fire conditions and other considerations were involved in Malik's suggestion.

Britain and France may participate in making such a sounding. In the meantime, it was understood by authorities that such intermediary governments as India and Sweden which have formal relations with Red China—and better contacts than the British there—would lose no time in asking Peiping whether it shared Malik's expressed convictions that a truce is now possible.

Diplomatic Trap Hinted

A positive answer coupled with an indication of acceptable conditions would undoubtedly mean that the Communist high command had given up its objective of throwing U. N. troops out of Korea and was ready—as the United States has repeatedly said

Fighting Stepped Up As Korean Conflict Starts Second Year

BY OLEN CLEMENTS
TOKYO—(AP)—The world talked of peace, but the Korean war roared into its second year today.

Chinese and North Korean Reds were more aggressive all along the 100-mile battlefield.

Communist jets streaked out of their Manchurian sanctuary on another typical hit-and-run attack.

Allied warships continued to pour a hail of steel into East coast ports in North Korea.

No Big Offensive

The cease-fire and armistice proposal by Russia's Jacob Malik had put no damper on the fighting.

Red ground forces showed more fight than usual. But by late afternoon there was still no sign of their expected anniversary offensive.

Allied officers, noting an ominous enemy buildup in the west, had predicted a limited Communist counterattack to celebrate the war's first birthday.

Thirty red-nosed MIG-15 jets darted back and forth across the Yalu river boundary of Manchuria Monday, jockeying for position to attack Fifth U. S. Air Force F-86 Sabre jets.

One of the Russian-made planes was shot down in flames. The Reds have lost 13 planes destroyed and 29 damaged.

The allies have lost 11 planes in that period.

Allies Lose Ridges

The Reds Sunday drove allied troops off two important ridges south of Pyongyang, the northern apex of the old Red "iron triangle" assembly area.

One rail engine was hit six times in 26 hours of bloody fighting. Reds and U. N. troops met at the top and battled with bayonets, rifles, machine guns and mortars.

The allies withdrew, then hurled a withering hail of artillery fire on the Red positions. Pilots later spotted enemy dead littering the hillside.

Tieup Near End

Engineers Haggle
On Final Terms

NEW YORK—(AP)—Shipowners and CIO marine engineers remained deadlocked today in the last remaining phase of a ten-day tieup of American flag shipping on the Atlantic and Gulf coasts.

Agreements over the weekend readied a majority of the idle ship crewmen for a return to work.

The CIO American Radio association reached a "memorandum agreement" with 40 shipping companies early yesterday after a 21-hour session with federal mediators.

Late Friday, the 52,000-member CIO National Maritime Union settled with the shipowners.

A mediator said the deadlock came from the engineers' insistence on hiring-hall practices with regard to engineers of lower rank than chief.

Ship owners had proposed the same eight per cent increase won by the NMU.

Both the NMU and the radio-men got the 44-hour week at sea, with assurance of a 40-hour week starting in December.

The ARA spokesman said 30 other fringe concessions were won on the pattern set by the west coast radio-men.

Present pay of raidomen starts at $352 a month for a 48-hour week.

College Rosters Sliced By Draft

Michigan U. Expects Drop Of 3,000

DETROIT — (AP)—An enrollment drop of up to 25 per cent because of the draft is expected by Michigan colleges and universities next fall.

Many of them are planning sharp cutbacks in their faculties. The general pattern will be to not fill posts vacated by retirements, resignations or military leaves.

There will be 97 fewer teaching and research positions open at the University of Michigan. Michigan News Service Director C. B. Wyke says the university expects the fall enrollment to be about 3,000 less than last fall's 19,483.

The usual faculty expansion of 15 to 20 a year has been halted at Michigan State college. Dr. William H. Combs, administrative assistant to the president, said the full-time faculty will be about 1,200.

Wayne university plans to meet an expected ten per cent drop in enrollment with a cut of 35 members from the faculty. The University of Detroit will make a 15 per cent cut in the faculty to balance an anticipated 25 per cent drop in enrollment.

Civilian Air Defense Network Found Wanting In First Test

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo.—(AP)—The United States and Canada tried out their growing air defense network this weekend. They found it still wanting.

But air defense command officials were happy with the prime object of the exercise: to test and train thousands of civilian volun-

Dope Quiz Will Be Put On TV

Senators To Question Narcotic Addicts

WASHINGTON — (AP)—The Senate crime probes will be back on television tomorrow—and this time they may be questioning dope addicts.

Sen. Herbert R. O'Connor (D-MD), chairman of the Crime Investigating committee, said last night that hearings tomorrow will be televised by the National Broadcasting company through Station WNBW in Washington.

The broadcasts were "cleared" with NBC, the Maryland Democrat said, with the provision they be made available to all other television networks on a "strictly non-commercial basis."

The hearings will center on the three basic phases of the nation's narcotics traffic.

O'Connor said the committee will attempt in these exploratory sessions to determine "the extent of the traffic, the methods of illegal distribution of drugs and the effects of narcotics addiction, both upon its victims and on society."

"Between 12 and 15 witnesses will testify. Their names were determined during conferences with counsel and committee staff members yesterday," O'Connor said, but will not be made public prior to their appearance.

Debate Warms Up On Controls

Truman Worried By Relaxed Provisions

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON — (AP)—The Senate today begins its fight toward a showdown in the controversy over legislation to extend price, wage, rent and other controls, now due to expire Saturday midnight.

President Truman declared over the week-end that bills recommended by House and Senate committees fail to provide the strengthened economic controls he has urged.

In letters to Vice President Barkley and House Speaker Rayburn, Mr. Truman said he has been "considerably distressed" by some provisions in both the House and Senate measures.

"These provisions take the easy way—to relax controls and hope for the best—which is extremely dangerous," he said.

The Senate took up the extension bill recommended by its banking committee with advance warning that some night sessions might be necessary this week.

The House is to start debate on its bill on Wednesday.

Tankers Jam Port; Iran Halts Cargoes Of Oil For Europe

BY JAMES M. LONG

ABADAN, IRAN—(AP)—A dozen tankers jammed the port of Abadan today, stopped from sailing with their cargoes of gasoline and oil from the world's largest refinery here. The ships belong to the Anglo-Iranian Oil company which Iran recently nationalized.

The company's British manager, A. E. C. Drake, warned that millions of gallons backing up into the plant's limited oil storage facilities might force a shutdown of the installation which supplies the lion's share of oil for Europe's defense effort.

One tanker, the Dolabella, managed to slip out yesterday despite an Iranian threat of "naval action" and got safely away over the sandbar at the mouth of the Tigris and Euphrates. Iranian soldiers prevented another, the British empress, from weighing anchor.

The port usually clears five or six tankers a day.

The ships are held by an Iranian demand that the captains sign receipts saying they owe the "Iranian National Oil Company" for the cargo taken aboard. The captains have refused. The National Oil Company was set up by Iran to take over the British-controlled AIOC.

A compromise receipt form was worked out Saturday in which the captains acknowledge pumping aboard a certain amount of oil, but leave unstated who is to receive payment. Four ships sailed after their masters signed these.

When the forms were studied however, they were found to carry the letterhead "Iranian National Oil Company". Drake said the captains of the remaining dozen ships refused to sign these until they heard from London whether doing so would commit Anglo-Iranian to be facto recognition of Iranian ownership.

Historic Town Fights Oblivion

Jet Plant Fought At Newington, N. H.

NEWINGTON, N. H. — (AP)—This little town, which goes back to 1621, today prepared to ask Congress why its historic streets have to be wiped out to make way for a $46 million jet bomber base when the town fathers say there's plenty of idle lands only a minute away—as a jet plane flies.

Town moderator Ralph Loomis, chairman of a committee elected by the 400 residents to oppose establishment of a 6,000-acre jet base, charged in a statement yesterday that it was not defense needs but "political opportunism" which is threatening Newington with "oblivion."

He said the folks of Newington don't want the base in their township because they feel there are "x x x almost limitless acres of undeveloped land to the north x x x hardly a minute from here if measured by the speed of a jet bomber."

The protest came after a recent statement from Sen. Bridges (R-NH) who announced that congressional approval of the base is expected in 90 days.

Loomis declared that Bridges "x x x should take full responsibility for what may well be the perpetuation of one of the worst political crimes in the history of New Hampshire."

Five Danforth Youths Injured

Hurt In Crash Near Iron Mountain

IRON MOUNTAIN (Special to Escanaba Daily Press)—Five young men residing in Danforth, Escanaba Route One, escaped apparent serious injury when the automobile in which they were riding collided head-on with a car driven by Pete Ozello, 40, of Iron Mountain, at 2:45 a. m. yesterday.

Edward Gascon, 19, driver of the Escanaba car, and his brother, James, 17, who were most severely injured, were still hospitalized in the Iron Mountain General hospital last night. The former suffered face and knee lacerations and had chest and knee X-rays taken, and the latter suffered a fractured jaw and the loss of two teeth.

The accident occurred a mile north of the Iron Mountain city limits on US-2 and a tenth of a mile south of the junction of US-2 and M-95. Ozello, who was driving north, received face cuts. State police of the Iron Mountain post said it was indicated that Ozello tried to avoid the mishap and was off on the shoulder on his right side when the crash occurred.

Other occupants of the Gascon car and their injuries were Arthur LaFave, 20, forehead and left knee cuts and X-rays taken of the pelvis; Richard Nolde, 19, left foreleg lacerations, and Clifton LaFave, 16, left ear, scalp and chin cuts and head injuries. These three were released after treatment.

State police reported they were informed that the Gascon car was going between 45 and 50 miles an hour and Ozello, who was alone, was driving 45 miles an hour. No violation tickets were issued, police said, pending a complete report on the extent of injuries.

It was reported the young men had attended the stock car races at the Dickinson county fairgrounds track in Norway Saturday night before continuing to Iron Mountain and north of Iron Mountain. They were driving south returning to Escanaba when the accident occurred.

Necessities such as food, clothing and shelter take a smaller bite out of the moderate-income family's dollar than they did 50 years ago. This leaves more of each family dollar to be spent for optional or "other" items, such as recreation, home appliances, automobiles and other things that go to make up America's high standard of living. The Newschart above, based on data from the National Industrial Conference Board, shows how the family dollar was spent at four periods since 1901.

Survey Stamps Escanaba As One Of Rich Markets

On the basis of money earned in Escanaba in 1950 and the amount spent in the local retail stores, the city takes its place as one of the richer markets of the United States. This is shown in the new, copyrighted survey of buying power, prepared by Sales Management, covering every section of the country.

The high scale of business activity in Escanaba is indicated by the $20,041,000 in sales chalked up in the local stores. This figure was well over the city's quota. It represents 0.143 percent of the nation's business—more than the 0.102 percent that should be produced locally on the basis of population.

The chief factor in the bigger spending locally was the better earnings of Escanaba families. The data shows that the 44,700 families in the city had a net disposable income, after taxes, of $25,823,000. It represented an average income, obtained by straight division, of $5,994 per family.

This was higher than the $4,521 earnings per family nationally and that the $4,910 per family average in the East North Central States. In Michigan it was $5,027. The figures are arithmetical averages, it is pointed out, and are higher than the median figures that will emerge later from the 1950 census, which took into account only individual incomes under $10,000.

Much of the local earnings went into reserves and into investments and are untapped. This is evidenced by the fact that only 77 cents of each dollar of family income went into retail purchases.

A guide to the relative economic position of each community is given in the survey by a "quality of market" index. This compares the individual city's potential, based on population, income, sales and other factors, to that of the rest of the country. Escanaba's index is placed at 125, or 25 percent above the general average.

Jack Ettenhofer Reached Overseas By Radio Operator

Ham radio again proved its worth as a communications medium in emergencies, this time in connection with the tragic accident which cost the lives of Police Chief and Mrs. Michael F. Ettenhofer.

Unable to reach a son, Staff Sgt. Jack Ettenhofer, who is on duty in Japan and Korea, through the usual communications systems, the Ettenhofer family contacted Mrs. John (Helen) Cloutier, ham operator of Station W8CJX of Escanaba.

At 6 a. m. today, Helen Cloutier passed the message by radio to the Overseas Traffic Net which operates daily on the ham bands. And, in addition, Mrs. Cloutier sent out emergency calls on the 20 meter band for one and one-half hours for a station in Japan so that she could pass along the message direct, a remote possibility this time of year. She contacted a Japan station, JA2CC, at 8 a. m. and he took the message for Sgt. Ettenhofer.

As Sgt. Ettenhofer is on duty between Korea and Japan, it is hoped that the message will be given him in time to contact his family.

Fontana Will Quit June 30

To Head Forestry School At U. Of M.

June 30 marks the end of 22 years conservation department service for Stanley G. Fontana, deputy director, and his return 34 years later to the University of Michigan campus to head the forestry school where he once was a student.

His June resignation as department deputy director, in order to accept the appointment of dean of the school of natural resources at the University of Michigan, was announced in April. In his student days, it was known as the school of forestry, later the school of forestry and conservation, and more recently the school of natural resources.

Will Succeed Dana

"Continuing the operation of the school of natural resources in the capable manner of the retiring dean, Samuel T. Dana, will be my objective," Fontana states. With the conservation department and the school having common interests, Fontana says he would work for close co-operation between the two agencies. He points out that the school is not only a training center for future state foresters, game and fish managers and other conservation workers, but also for private industry and other government agencies.

With the department and as a member of the state land use committee, Fontana was instrumental in getting a lot of acreage into public use. He worked with counties and townships in determining the best use of lands. State forests, game, park and recreation areas were enlarged. Some waterfront land was held for public access sites. Other land was dedicated to such local uses as county and township parks.

Native of Powers

As a committee member, he aided in determining which tax-exempt lands should be returned to private ownership.

'New Industry' Will Be Topic

Municipal League Meets June 28-29

Discussion of means and methods of attracting new industry will be one of the features of the program to be presented at the Upper Peninsula district convention of the Michigan Municipal League this week.

The annual gathering will take place at Holiday Resort on Lake Gogewic near Ironwood, Thursday and Friday, June 28 and 29.

"What the Municipal Government Can Do to Attract New Industry" will be the subject of a panel discussion during the two-day convention. Members of the panel will include W. D. Knight, director of the bureau of business research and service of the University of Wisconsin; B. F. Clark, industrial agent for the Michigan Department of Economic Development; Arne Ervatt, Upper Peninsula industrial agent for that state department; and George E. Bishop, secretary-manager of the U. P. Development Bureau.

The Development Bureau, which has been cooperating with the Department of Economic Development in the new-industry project, believes that the panel discussion by the Municipal league will be a timely one.

It declared:

"Many Upper Peninsula communities, Chambers of Commerce and industrial committees have given considerable attention to this subject. Progress has been made—slowly, to be sure—but the entire undertaking is on a long-term development basis.

Defense Strength Of U. S. Growing

BY ELTON C. FAY
WASHINGTON — (AP) — The United States has about 1,841,000 more men under arms than it had a year ago when the Communist invasion of South Korea signaled sudden war. It also has added hundreds of ships and thousands of planes to its operating naval and air fleets.

Actually, the nation has come along so rapidly toward its limited military mobilization goal that cutbacks have been made in recent draft calls and plans are afoot to release 100,000 army reservists.

Does this mean the U. S. considers the danger of new incidents elsewhere or of a third world war have diminished?

Tensions Greater

A high government official whose responsibilities include shaping military policies to the estimates of world situations, present and future, was asked by a reporter if the seeming moderation of the armed force buildup effort indicated the tensions which followed outbreak of the Korean war had lessened.

"On the contrary, they probably are greater," answered the official, who may not be named.

He outlined some of reasons:

Added to the persisting, long-present possibility that the Soviet union may elect to start World War III by attack in Europe, there are or have developed other potentially dangerous situations—in Iran, for example.

The Korean war itself, even if it doesn't expand into a global conflict, can impose new demands. In explaining why he doesn't think the new defense department policies should be considered indicative of a diminished danger, the government official said:

"We are now getting a dividend on the investments we made eight months, ten months, a year ago."

Reservists Relieved

He was referring to the start of mobilization—the draft, the calling up of reservists, de-mobilizing of warships, a stepped-up aircraft and other weapon production. The immediate goal then was to muster available, trained manpower to meet urgent needs imposed by the outbreak of fighting in the far east. The longer range objective was to train and equip a professional force which ultimately could relieve the reservists called in the emergency. The army announcement that the first reservists would begin to leave next month suggested a belief the goal has been attained.

On June 25, 1950, the total armed forces personnel was about 1,500,000. The present strength is approximately 3,341,000. Of these, about 1,552,000 are army, 850,000 air force, 737,000 navy and 204,000 marines. The objective of the limited mobilization is a force of 3,472,000 men.

The army, where the greatest manpower expansion occurred, is about at its planned strength, although it may be increased in the next year to a point approaching 1,600,000.

Fleet Expands

The navy has a little farther to go to reach its new size of 310,000 men by June 30, 1952. But in ships, the active fleet already is approaching planned strength. The present force is about 980 ships of all types. The plan is to bring the fleet to a strength of 1,161 ships. Already in service are 27 carriers, three battleships, about 15 cruisers (to be increased to 19) and 210 destroyers (to be increased to 248 during the next year).

The air force had 48 groups of bombers, fighters, troop carrier and other types a year ago. Now it has 87. It aims at 95 by a year from now. It had about 412,000 men a year ago, now has approximately 850,000. Because the ultimate expansion may be greater than 95 groups, the eventual manpower strength is uncertain.

Even if a true cessation of hostilities in Korea, it is unlikely the size of the projected American armed force would be changed. Its size and pattern has been planned with view to continuing danger of new conflicts and of sudden attack by Russia. The military planners say it will be a sound foundation for quick expansion if a global war comes suddenly.

"Before using Renel Concentrate I wore a size 44 dress and now I wear a size 38," writes Mrs. Jaunita Kimball, 4921 Page Ave., Michigan Center, Mich. "Formerly I weighed 180 lbs. and now I weigh 162. I have lost that bloated feeling, feel better and friends tell me I look ten years younger. And best of all I like that size 38."

It's simple. It's amazing how quickly one may lose pounds of bulky, unightly fat right in your own home. Make this recipe yourself. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. It contains nothing harmful. Just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Renel Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Then take two tablespoonfuls twice a day. That's all there is to it. If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose pounds of bulky fat and help regain slender more youthful curves—if reducible excess fat doesn't seem to disappear almost like magic just return the empty bottle to the manufacturer for your money back. Note how quickly bloated disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active. Insist on genuine Renel.

Ruark To Hunt For Big Game

Going On Safari To Tanganyika

By ROBERT C. RUARK
NEW YORK—And so, as the sun drops dead over the nearest traffic tie-up, we leave beautiful, scenic New York City for a short vacation, which could stretch into years if I have my way. Unfortunately, it may be only a matter of weeks, but when I come home with the lion I strangled with my bare hands you can just call me Bwana McKumba. That means Tarzan (JG).

We head for Africa, this trip, because once in a while a guy gets to do what he always wanted to do, and this is what I have had my face fixed for since I was knee-high to a small salamander. I am going to rattle me a bull buffalo if it kills me, and it probably will, but here and now I wish to say that a Safari is too much trouble for anybody but a guy who is a little on the screwy side for a start.

Like Gregory Peck

Just for a momentary puzzler, there is the matter of white hunters and general retinue. A white hunter is a fellow who runs your show and stands behind you with the bull-gun so's the elephants don't eat you. They largely are booked 99 years in advance, and most of them are as old as sin and as ugly as an income-tax blank.

But not my boy. Mine is somewhere in his late '20s and looks like Gregory Peck. I saw a movie, once, in which the adventurer's mama shot her old man in the neck, out of love for the hunter, and, strangely, my nape tingles all the time. Oddly enough, the hunter was played by Gregory Peck. I ask you: Is it fair to start a Safari when the hunter is type-cast as the villain already?

Has Much Armament

We have made great preparations. The Messrs. Winchester and Remington have supplied me with enough weapons to slay all the beasts between here and Tanganyika, and merely in the trying out I am wounded sorely. There is a thing called a .375 Magnum, which elephants use to shoot humans, that has scared me almost into a Bermuda vacation.

I won't say she kicks, but she makes an awful noise, and she sort of moves you back a touch. It only took me three hours and an equal amount of Dutch courage to touch the thing, and then mama strides up and looses off this cannon with what amounted to a sneer at me. I know who kills the lion on this Safari, and it will be the one who worries about keeping her hair blonde in the jungle. We call her the White Queen of the Ubangis, and already she answers to a diminutive of "Queenie." What she don't know is that I aim to sell her to the natives for her hide and tallow.

Donald Larsen Of Muskegon Is Back From Korea

Sgt. Donald H. Larsen, son of Mrs. Vera A. Larsen, 265 W. Muskegon avenue, Muskegon, and L. S. Larsen of Rapid River recently arrived in San Francisco from Korea.

Few veterans of Korean hostilities can match the fighting record of the wounded Muskegon serviceman. Wounded three times, he was awarded the Silver Star for gallantry. On the last occasion he was wounded in the leg by a machine gun bullet and suffered mortar shell fragments in the right leg. A bullet also grazed his right temple and his left eye was injured from grenade concussion.

The Muskegon soldier, formerly of Rapid River and Perkins, on January 30, was described as among 3 survivors of an infantry platoon, most of them wounded, that escaped from a Red trap north of Yon.

A veteran of World War II, Sergeant Larsen served 3½ years with the 2nd Marine Air Wing in the South Pacific. He re-enlisted in the Army in July, 1948. After serving as an instructor at Ft. Knox, he was transferred to the 2nd Infantry Division in Korea.

The return home of Sergeant Larsen will not be the joyous celebration he had anticipated during his past year of service. It was Sergeant Larsen's sister, Mary Alice Larsen, 17 year old, who was Muskegon county's first polio victim of 1951. The Muskegon high school student died in Hackley hospital on Mother's day.

Robert Saykilly Is Hurt In Car Crash

Robert Saykilly, 21, of 1835 Third avenue north, sustained head injuries at 3 a. m. Sunday when an auto driven by Donald LaForest, 20, Gladstone Rd. 1, struck another car on Lake Shore Drive, Gladstone, at Marble avenue.

Saykilly was taken to St. Francis hospital and was dismissed later yesterday after treatment.

LaForest told officers that he must have fallen asleep at the wheel. He was awakened by a crash when he struck another car at the intersection. The name of the driver of the other car was not learned by the officers.

Industry Will Be Displayed

State Fair Plans Larger Exhibit

For the second successive year—prompted chiefly by widespread approval given the 1950 display—the Upper Peninsula State Fair board will have an industrial products exhibit at the 1951 fair in Escanaba Aug. 14 to 19.

But this year, twice as much space will be made available, enabling the Fair Board to make a more comprehensive display of Upper Peninsula-made products.

Cooperating in the project are the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau and the Michigan Department of Economic Development. They are extending an invitation to all Upper Peninsula manufacturers to participate.

"Employees of companies which exhibited at last year's Fair were proud of their products and visitors were surprised when they learned such articles, available through retail outlets, were being manufactured in this area," the Development Bureau said. "Exhibitors of some products were able to establish valuable contacts."

"All in all, this exhibit—featuring Upper Peninsula-made products, utilizing, for the most part, Upper Peninsula resources and furnishing jobs to Upper Peninsula residents—effectively portrayed our area and helped create public support for the effort of building a greater economic state."

Chamber Of Commerce Program One Of Community Betterment

THE Escanaba Chamber of Commerce is moving forward on a new membership program with the objective of obtaining the largest possible participation in Chamber of Commerce activities in the year ahead. The program is one that not merely deserves support of all local business, civic and industrial groups. It commands such support for the benefit of everyone in the community.

The services of the Chamber of Commerce to the community and the benefits that the organization provide to make Escanaba a better city are so well known that they do not require remuneration. It is not necessary to "resell" the Chamber of Commerce to the business interests of Escanaba. Strong support of the C-C program, both in terms of finances and personal cooperation, is standard policy of virtually all successful business firms in the community.

More Help Needed From UN Members

THE United States has formally requested other members of the United Nations to send reinforcements to the Korean war, particularly those nations which promised support of the UN action but which thus far have failed to do so.

American troops have carried the brunt of the fighting in Korea. Our battle casualties there are nearly 75,000 in the first year of the war, exceeded only by the Republic of Korea casualties of 126,000. Many nations that promised full support of the war against the Communist aggressors have either failed completely or have sent only token forces.

More help from other members of the United Nations is particularly desired now because of indications that the Chinese Communists are preparing for another big push. Huge concentrations of troops are reported in the Communist regrouping areas.

Now the time is at hand for members of the United Nations to give more than lip service or token support to the Korean war. This is not a war of the United States against the Communist aggressors but a war of the entire United Nations. Fifty-three members have pledged help. The largest force in action by any member nation, outside of the United States and the Republic of Korea, is that of Great Britain—23,000, or less than a third of the number of American soldiers who have become battle casualties in Korea.

Equalization of the sacrifices necessary for victory by the UN in Korea would serve to strengthen the United Nations organization.

The Honor Man And The Anchor Man

WEST POINT cadets traditionally march to receive their diplomas, which also carry commissions in the United States Army or Air Force, in the order of their final standing in the class. The lead-off man is the top honor man. The last man is "the anchor man," the man who just made it. As he brings up the rear, he always gets a tumultuous hand. This year was no exception, as Jerry S. Ingram of Muskogee, Okla., beamed, kissed the coveted diploma and returned to his seat, a second lieutenant in the regular army.

The generous tribute to the anchor man is compounded of mixed emotions. There is admiration for the fact that he made the grade by the skin of his teeth, when in his starting class of 615, only 475 went the whole route, and 140 others fell by the wayside. There is the relief that the long exercises are over and the cadet corps can relax. There is the knowledge that, while often honors foretell leadership—notably, Douglas MacArthur was honor man of the class of 1903—just as often anchor men prove themselves on the field of battle and go on to great responsibilities of command. And while first assignments might go to men on the basis of their cadet records, they all start their careers even.

That is something for graduates of colleges and universities throughout the land to remember. For while honor students and campus leaders will receive the tributes due their achievements, in the new race of life, all start even once more. Talents were superior in the class room may be turned to advantage in the greater stage of life, but just as often talents that were submerged in the class room may blossom out in life. A diploma gives each a place on the starting line. All will have a chance in the race they run, a chance to hold the lead, or to score a major upset. It is one of the most wonderful things in life, this opportunity vouchsafed us again and again to prove ourselves and to find our own place in our own way.

Menu Mix-Up

When at home you read your paper in the comfort of your chair, of the little woman's chattering you vaguely are aware. Though the most of your attention is devoted to the news, now and then you catch a word as she proceeds to air her views. Then you suddenly are hearing every thing she has to say, as she plans your evening supper in a manner very gay:

"Now I think I'll chop some olives to be mixed with salad spread, and cut out some fancy pieces of a loaf of sandwich bread. Then I'll get a head of lettuce and I'll use some carrots too, and I'll make a pretty salad and some special tea I'll brew. And to top it off I'll serve but just a little dab of cake, so the menu won't be fattening like thick and juicy steak."

Then you holler bloody murder and you say without a doubt, if she's having such a supper, you are damn sure going out. "Why," she says, "it isn't supper plans of which you heard me speak, but a luncheon of the sewing club I entertain next weeks." Thus you've made a big mistake, for she'll remind you every day, that you really never listen to a word she has to say.

Merry-Go-Round

(Editor's Note—Drew Pearson's column today, the first anniversary of the invasion of Korea, is written to American troops in Korea.)

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—To the G. I. in Korea: This is in answer to the many letters I have received from you asking the difficult question: "Why do we fight?"

It is not an easy question to answer. One year ago when we first went into Korea, I felt certain I knew the answer. Then we were full of confidence; full of a national upsurge which demanded that we stop Moscow dead in its tracks; full of the feeling that we could do it in a few weeks with naval and air power only—one hand strapped behind our back.

Since then I've had a lot of misgivings about the Korean war. I've wondered whether we were wise in getting into it. And when I read your letters of the wounded and the dead, of trudging back and forth across those mountains, back and forth across the 38th parallel, back and forth among the refugees and the battered villages, I wonder more.

Of course, it is easy for me to sit back here in comfort and be philosophical. But actually I don't think the answers have changed in Korea. We have all become discouraged about them, but the reasons why we fight are just the same as when we started, just the same as when the entire country shouted approval of our intervention—about a year ago today.

TIME TO PREPARE

Reason No. 1 is fairly easy. We've always been lucky in fighting on someone else's territory. And if it wasn't those mountains you are trudging over, it might be your father's farms the enemy would be marching over. If we have to have a showdown with the Communist enemy, it is much better to have it over there than over here. So the sacrifice you boys are making is far more important than you realize. Thanks to the current foreign-policy debate, it is also far greater than the American people realize. In time, however, I feel sure they will appreciate it fully.

Reason No. 2 perhaps is not so well understood. In the past we have also been fortunate in that other countries have borne the brunt of battle while we prepared. Between 1914 and 1917 France and England held off Germany while we slowly and reluctantly prepared. Between 1939 and 1941 they again held off the axis while we again reluctantly but more speedily prepared.

If we are going to continue to be a peaceful nation, if we are going to avoid the permanent cost of a huge military establishment, we must have advance notice to prepare for war. We don't like to prepare. In fact, we hate to prepare. And I hope we will never get so military-minded that we quit hating it. But if we are going to be that way, then we have to have a Korea or a Pearl Harbor, or the sinking of a Lusitania to prod us out of our lethargy.

MOSCOW'S WORST BLUNDER

History, I think, will record that Korea was the worst possible blunder for the Russians because it got us prepared. You may think now, as you trudge over those mountains, that it was we who made the blunder. But history, I feel sure, will decide that it is the other way round.

Reason No. 3 I am not so certain of. But I have a theory—which may be entirely wrong—that wars can be isolated. They don't necessarily have to spread throughout the world.

Take, for instance, the start of World War I, which was touched off by the assassination of the Archduke Francis Ferdinand at Sarajevo by a group of Serbian enemies of Austria. At that time there was no United Nations, no security council to raise a restraining hand; so the Austrian army mobilized, then the Russian army, then the French and so on, until all Europe was at war.

But if resolute peace machinery had existed then, it is quite possible that World War I could have been isolated to the Balkan mountains of Bosnia and Serbia. In other words, it might have been another Korea, fought out a long distance away from the rest of the world.

The Trigger

Science Tries Bold Experiments In Its Battle Against Cancer

By PAT McGRADY
Science Editor, American Cancer Society

(Written for NEA Service)
In laboratories all over the U. S., brilliant scientists and young researchers alike are striving for one goal—the control of cancer.

I have just completed a nationwide tour of these laboratories, to find what progress has been noted. And there has been progress, although no definite, complete cancer cure is yet known.

But each project is meaningful. A biophysicist is working on a new method of analyzing trace metals in blood. A cytologist has isolated a peculiar structure from cancer cells. A biochemist has found a particular protein change as cancer takes over the cell. An immunochemist has discovered that embryonic glands grow when transplanted to another animal species.

Some of these may never have any bearing on cancer. But each contributes a little something to our understanding of that basic unit of life, the cell. And it is an abnormal change in the cell that means cancer.

Somehow a cell goes wrong. Maybe it's a cell in the lungs, or a woman's breast, or on the skin, or in the throat. Something happens to it, and cancer comes. What causes the change in the cell? That's what science is trying to find out.

It may be due to an enzyme—a substance produced by cells. Or maybe it's due to a vitamin, or a hormone secreted by a gland. Perhaps it's the result of diet, nerves, habits, customs, drugs, rays, chemicals, viruses, other organisms.

In some laboratory in some city, some scientist is investigating each one of those possibilities and many others.

Each experimenter has hope. Each feels that his work is leading to an eventual answer to the riddle. Most of them, of course, will prove to be duds. They'll be duds as far as cancer is concerned, but they'll add a little something to our general store of knowledge, so they won't be complete wastes of time.

But perhaps one of the scientists is even now on the right track. You get the feeling after talking to hundreds of them that cancer will be controlled eventually. The answer will come from the basic of fundamental research now going on. It may not be for 20 years, but it will come.

It's impossible to describe every research project. Many sound far removed from the basic problem and others are far too technical for the average person to comprehend. But here are a few that are encouraging, that show how the dread disease is being attacked from every angle.

VIRUSES have been proven to be responsible for certain kinds of animal cancers, although no one has yet tagged them with causing human cancers. Nevertheless, work on viruses continues. In Bloomington, Ind., an immunochemist has found a way to explore the interiors of viruses and determine what chemicals comprise them.

PROTEIN molecules are the foundation of living matter. They are complicated creations, containing amino acids. Cancer builds abnormal (tumor) protein at the expense of other body proteins. A group of New York scientists have learned how to measure the rate of protein production and protein destruction in humans.

CANCER RESEARCHER: Someday the disease will be caged too.

HORMONES are substances secreted by glands. They may have a great deal to do with certain types of cancers. A Salt Lake City scientist has found, in experiments on mice, that an adrenal hormone plays a part in development of leukemia, a cancer of the white blood cells. He thinks it's partly the result of insufficient hormone production by the outer membrane of the adrenal glands, located above the kidneys.

GENES are even smaller than cells. Each cell has thousands of genes strung out like beads on long chromosome fibers. They control inheritable characteristics. Some scientists, like a group at Stanford University in California, think gene changes cause cancer. This group has been able to cause gene changes with cancer-causing rays and chemicals.

CAUSE of cancer is, of course, basic in finding the cure. Hundreds of causes of cancer are already known, but there may be one underlying cause for all cancers. Science is trying to find out if there is, and if so what the chief cause is.

One interesting experiment took place in Portland, Ore., and at Stanford, where scientists gave one animal two known chemical causes of cancer. Strangely, the animal developed neither type of cancer. The two apparently cancelled each other out. Those are samples of some research projects being conducted in America's laboratories. Time alone will tell whether any of them are on the right track.

Good Evening . . .

By CLINT DUNATHAN

OUTLOOK HOPEFUL—The weatherman leads an interesting life bounded on the east by rain, the west by wind, the north by clouds and the south by sunshine. Prevailing wind here is from the northwest.

S. E. Decker of the U. S. Weather Bureau at Escanaba is a comparatively new meteorologist here, coming from Des Moines where the tall corn grows and the weather has just as many vagaries as anywhere else.

Decker expected to be in Escanaba earlier than he made it—but there were floods and other unusual natural manifestations around Des Moines that delayed him. Coming here was in a sense like coming home, for he had served Escanaba weather post temporarily prior to retirement of Henry E. Mathaway.

You may be interested in some long-range weather forecasts Decker mentioned at a recent meeting of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce. Then again, you may not. The outlook isn't too bright.

WITH A BAND—A guest at the Chamber of Commerce dinner meeting, Decker was called upon to make a few well-chosen remarks.

"When I arrived in Escanaba Thursday last week I thought I was being given a royal welcome," said the meteorologist. "There was a band and drum and bugle corps at the station. Then I found out you were having a VFW convention and they weren't looking for me."

Decker's sense of humor is as sparkling as his blue eyes. He doesn't in the slightest resemble the traditional picture of the saddened weather man with an umbrella under his arm.

LOTS OF INFORMATION—The U. S. Weather Bureau office in the post office building at Escanaba receives a lot of weather information by teletype from all parts of the United States, Decker said.

Perhaps there are airplane pilots or shippers who might need that information, and perhaps they may not know it is available here.

"If in your business you need weather information not reported by press or radio, don't hesitate to ask us," Decker invited.

Incidentally, we might report that newspapers seldom carry more than general forecasts of the weather from day to day. Interest in run-of-the-mill weather seldom goes beyond whether it will be clear or cloudy, rainy or dry, cold or warm in the area in which the readers live.

THE LONG VIEW—What does the weather hold in store for us in the near future? Say over a period of three weeks?

Long-range forecasts are made up by a master analyst in the Washington, D. C., office of the U. S. Weather Bureau. These forecasts have been about 80 per cent successful for the areas concerned.

"Indications are now that the next three or four weeks will continue wetter than normal, with precipitation 50 per cent above normal, and temperature 2 to 3 degrees below normal," Decker reported.

There it is and not too hopeful for sunny weekends in the country or on the golf course. But the hay and potatoes will be delighted.

NO PARTICULARS—There is nothing in the long-range forecast to indicate whether July 4 or any other day will be fair or stormy, so don't ask. It is a general forecast for a large area.

The long-range forecast service isn't much used here, said Decker.

"Probably because you don't need it, possibly because you think it isn't worth a darn anyway," he smiled.

The Weather Bureau telephone number in Escanaba is 160, in event you want some special weather information not found in your newspaper. But the staff is not large and if you don't get an immediate answer please understand that the observer may be up on the roof checking the recording instruments. Or he may, as Decker said, have chased out for a quick cup of coffee.

Take My Word For It . . . Frank Colby Jr.

WORDS WITHOUT MEANING

English has more oddities. For instance, it seems impossible that a word should have no meaning; yet there are countless words in English which not only have no meaning; but which cannot even be pronounced until we use them in sentences.

Such a word is console. Is it KON-sole, or kun-SOLE? Well, let's see what the word means: KON-sole, "a small ornamental table"; kun-SOLE, "to comfort; to lessen grief or sorrow."

What does invalid mean? As our good neighbors south of the border would say "Quien sabe?" There are two invalids in English. The first is an adjective, meaning "not valid; void; null," pronounced: in-VAL-id. The second is a noun meaning "a person disabled by a chronic illness," pronounced: in-vuh-lid. (The pronunciation in-vuh-LEED is British, and has no sanction in American usage.)

There are two anathemas. Their meanings are so completely contradictory that it has been necessary to establish two unlike pronunciations to distinguish one from the other:

(1) Anathema: "A curse, or thing accursed by ecclesiastical authority." Pronunciation: uh-NATH-ee-muh.

(2) Anathema: "An offering to a divinity or a sacred purpose." Pronunciation: AN-uh-THEE-muh.

The word entrance has a Dr. Jekyll-Mr. Hyde dual personality: EN-tr'ns, "act of entering; an opening or passage for entering."

in-TRANSS, "to fill with delight or wonder; to enrapture."

Another double-talk word having a split personality (no pun intended) is the word cleave:

(1) Cleave, verb: "To adhere closely; to cling to; to unite."

(2) Cleave, verb: "To part or divide with force; to separate by splitting, as with a butcher's cleaver."

School Maintenance Men Hold Meeting

School custodians, engineers and bus drivers of the Upper Peninsula will meet today and Tuesday at Marquette for a workshop in new practices in the operation and maintenance of school plants.

The conference opened at Lee hall at 8 this morning at Northern Michigan College of Education.

Serving on the conference staff will be Julius Barber, of Michigan State college; John Bartel, of Escanaba; Nathan Doan, of Bay City; Lee Duer of Northern college; Alfred Lamb, of Detroit; William Magee of Detroit; Frank Schwemin, of Northern college; Leslie Silvernale, of Michigan State college; Dorr Stack of Lansing; Henry Tape, president of Northern college; E. Garden Baby Wears Grandmother's Christening Robe

GARDEN—A christening robe made 69 years ago for the baby's grandmother, Mrs. Charles Winter, the former Hattie Farley, was worn by Celeste Marie, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Thompson, when she was baptized Sunday afternoon at St. John the Baptist church by the Rev. James J. Schaefer. The sentimental interest in the garment was enhanced by the fact that it was made by Mrs. Winter's father Oliver Farley. Sponsors at Sunday's rites were Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Winter.

George Boudreau sr. entered St. Francis hospital Wednesday as a surgical patient.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Thompson and sons Jess and Douglas of Chicago left Thursday after visiting at the Charles Winter home. Jess Thompson of Milwaukee, father of Henry, left with them after spending several days at the Joseph Farley home.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Cooper, Mrs. Christine Anderson and son Arthur of Manistique visited at the Joseph Farley home Thursday evening.

Local Legionnaires met at their hall Tuesday night to further plans for a celebration here on July 4th.

Spray Keeps Vegetables Fresh For Over A Year

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor
PHILADELPHIA — (AP) — The Country Gentleman today reports a new spray-maleic hydrazide—which keeps potatoes, onions and several other vegetables fresh for a year or more.

It says the U. S. armed forces officials believe the spray may make it possible to ship fresh vegetables throughout the world with a great reduction in spoilage.

The Country Gentleman report covers only part of this spray work, which has been under tests all over the country. Today's report is about Michigan State college's work with potatoes, onions, carrots, garden beets, sugar beets, parsnips, turnips and rutabagas.

W. H. Wittwer of Michigan State is quoted as saying the experiments were successful and "we could hardly believe them possible." The crops are sprayed before gathering. The spray does not affect the yield.

The spray arrests growth. Growth is so slow after spraying that the vegetables fall even to die at the rapid rate normal during storage. Every living process seems slowed down. Flavor and firmness are retained for a long time, apparently for about a year. The Michigan tests are not complete, but no bad effects are reported.

The spray has been tried in other places to produce lawns that never have to be mowed, hedges that need not be clipped, for delaying the early flowering of strawberries until after frost, and to aid hybrid corn.

The never-cut lawn failed; the others are still under experiment with possibilities of success. Lawns were sprayed when the grass reached the height desired and for a time everything was lovely. But the grass died.

Maleic hydrazide is a synthetic chemical discovered by the Nautuck Chemical division of the United States Rubber company. Its ability to arrest growth was a surprise finding. The company notified the scientific world, which has been experimenting for more than two years. The chemical is

Says Tourist Industry Needs Broader Vision

Citing the need of meeting expanded competition in the tourist industry from other states and foreign countries, George E. Bishop, Marquette, secretary-manager of the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau, urges the Michigan Tourist Council to seek an appropriation of "at least half a million dollars" from the next legislature.

Although the Tourist Council and the four regional resort associations in the state, received $270,000 for the fiscal year beginning July 1, an increase of $45,000 over the 1950 appropriation, "we will be able to do a less effective job than we did in 1945," Bishop believes.

Much Competition

In a letter to Robert Furlong, executive secretary of the Tourist Council, he warned that Michigan is still "trying to do as good a job as in 1945" in attracting visitors. In following that formula, state support for promotion of the tourist industry has dropped from third to thirteenth among states in the Union.

"We must meet competition from other states, which more and more are realizing the immense value of the resort and travel trade," Bishop said in explaining his letter. "To do this, we need broader vision by our state officials."

"Rather than comparing the appropriation for our present efforts on what we have done in the past, we need to realize that the future will bring returns only in proportion to what we put into it. By aiming at a higher goal, we can surpass anything we have ever done before."

Legislature Gave $270,000 While urging a larger amount for promotion of travel in Michigan, the Development Bureau executive expressed his organization's appreciation for the $270,000 the legislature did appropriate.

That amount, earmarked for the job of advertising the recreational appeal of Michigan's vacationland, is $27,000 less than requested by the Michigan Tourist Council. And it was determined, according to Bishop, "by adding to the '250,000 appropriated in 1945 only the additional costs of paper, space and labor in order that we might do as good a job as in 1945."

He revealed that during the last five years more than 2,000 new resorts have been opened in Michigan and that such "an investment of hundreds of thousands of dollars attests the faith of our own citizens in the growth and development of the resort business in Michigan."

Beef ranks first and pork second in the preference of Americans.

Service Clubs Hear Norblad

Former Escanaban Is Guest Speaker

Atty. Albin W. Norblad of Astoria, Ore., former Escanaba resident, entertained members of the Escanaba Rotary and Kiwanis clubs today noon at the Delta hotel with an informal talk on earlier days in this community where he made his start in the law.

From Escanaba Atty. Norblad moved to Oregon where he was active in legal and civic affairs and served as state senator, lieutenant governor, and then governor.

His son, Walter Norblad, born in Escanaba, is U. S. senator from Oregon and has served six years.

Atty. Norblad came to Escanaba in 1904 after passing the Michigan bar examination and for a time was partner in the law firm of Yelland & Norblad. It was here he married Edna Lew Cates, then registrar of probate, and in 1909 (after Norblad was defeated for prosecuting attorney) they moved to Astoria.

Amusing incidents from the life of the community in the years he lived in Escanaba were related by Atty. Norblad, who said that he was happy to recall a period which had afforded him so much happiness.

The names of Emil Glazer, then justice of the peace; John P. Norton, budding newspaper publisher; Judge Stone of the circuit court; and Lew Cates, founder of the Calumet newspaper in 1886, and later publisher of the Iron Post; and of George Gallup, former Escanaban who went west and for whom Gallup, New Mexico, was named were mentioned by Norblad.

In conclusion Norblad sketched the history of Astoria and Oregon and the growth of population in the Northwest.

Atty. and Mrs. Norblad are vacationing here. They are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Leighton, 505 South Sixth street.

Hit At Centerline

State Police of the Newberry detachment reported today that Chief Ettenhofer was attempting to pass another car on the highway. He was driving an Escanaba police department car.

The car driven by Chief Ettenhofer, and a car traveling west driven by Donald Stone, captain of the Pontiac fire department, collided almost at the centerline of the highway, state police reported. The cars hit on their left front corners and were almost demolished.

Four persons died in the wreckage and the injured were given emergency treatment by a passing physician, Dr. Fred O. Clark of Syracuse, Ind., and then taken to Manistique hospital by ambulance.

Another head-on collision Saturday night at 8:35 o'clock claimed the life of Albert Root, 65, of Nahma.

The accident occurred on M-77 about one-half mile south of Germfask in Schoolcraft county.

State police of the Manistique post reported Root was traveling north on the wrong side of the highway when it met an auto driven by Raymond Edward Reilly, 23, of Birmingham, Mich. Reilly was unhurt. His wife, 20, sustained slight wrist injuries and was released from the hospital at Manistique after treatment.

Root was born Sept. 28, 1885, near Cadillac, and for the past 30 years had been employed in railroad work at Nahma. He is survived by a brother, John, of Munising. He died before reaching the hospital at Manistique. The body is at the Kefauver and Jackson funeral home.

Chief Ettenhofer began work with the Escanaba police department as patrolman in 1920 and in 1922 was promoted to assistant chief of police. In 1937 he was promoted to chief, a position he has held since that time.

Mr. Ettenhofer, who was 58, was born in Escanaba May 5, 1893, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Ettenhofer, sr., and he was a life-long resident of this community.

He was active in football and basketball during his high school years. He was employed as warehouse foreman for the Chicago & North Western Railway from 1913 to 1917 and by the Reiss Coal Co. from 1917 to 1920.

He was a member of the Kiwanis Club, the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce, the Michigan Police Chief's association of which he was a past president and the Upper Peninsula Law Enforcement association. His religious affiliation was St. Patrick's church.

Son In Korea

He married the former Susan B. (Rose) Rutherford in Escanaba August 7, 1923.

Mrs. Ettenhofer also was born in Escanaba April 24, 1891, and she too was a life-long Escanaban resident. She worshipped, as her husband did, at St. Patrick's church.

Surviving are two sons, Michael William of Escanaba and John Francis who is with the U. S. Air Force in Korea, and five grandchildren. Mr. Ettenhofer also had a brother, Louis A. Ettenhofer of Puyallup, Wash., and a sister, Mrs. J. A. Natilo, of Escanaba and Mrs. Ettenhofer is survived by a brother, John F. McMahon of Escanaba.

Funeral services will be held at St. Patrick's church and burial will be in Gardens of Rest cemetery. Definite arrangements will be made following word as to whether the son in Korea will be able to return home for the rites.

WORLD'S FIRST JET FLYING-BOAT FIGHTER—The Saunders-Roe A-1, world's first and thus far only jet flying-boat fighter, is moored on the Thames after landing near the Festival of Britain exposition in London. The unique jet was flown from the Isle of Wight by Geoffrey Tyson to be shown during "Gas Turbine Week" at the Festival.

ber of Commerce, the Michigan Police Chief's association of which he was a past president and the Upper Peninsula Law Enforcement association. His religious affiliation was St. Patrick's church.

The bodies are at the Alto funeral home.

MICHAEL ALLEN LEONARD

Funeral arrangements for Michael Allen Leonard, 2, were reported as incomplete by the Morton funeral home.

The child was born July 10, 1949, in Kalamazoo but had lived in Escanaba for the past year with his parents.

Survivors are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Glenford S. Leonard, Jr., 211 Oden avenue, Escanaba; a sister, Terry Elizabeth, 6; and both his paternal and maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Glenford S. Leonard, sr., and Mr. and Mrs. Russell A. French, of Port Huron.

To save on auto tires, motorists are reminded: 1. Tires will last twice as long at 30 m.p.h. as at 50 m.p.h. 2. High speed is much more harmful to tires in hot weather than in cold. Tire treads wear five times faster at 100 degrees than at 40 degrees. 3. Go slow on roads which have sharp projecting stones. 4. Take curves and turns slowly. Speeding around curves can multiply tire wear as much as 10 times.

Briefly Told

Mrs. Garrard Belanger, the former Mae D'Amour of this city, and her two children, Anne and Jane, arrived Sunday from Columbus, O., to spend the summer months with Mrs. Belanger's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. D'Amour, 813 Fourth avenue south.

Union Club Entered—The teamsters Union Club house at 1229 Sheridan road was entered Friday night or early Saturday morning and between $40 and $50 in pennies were taken, city police reported today. The theft was believed to be the work of juveniles, police said.

Public Program Tonight—Capitalism, Socialism, Communism—a comparison of economic systems—will be the subject of a free public program at 8 o'clock tonight in Escanaba junior high school. The program will be presented by D. B. Varner, East Lansing, Michigan State College department of agricultural economics.

Neck Is Injured—Kathleen LeClaire, Nahma, is receiving treatment today in St. Francis hospital for a neck injury sustained Saturday night. Her companion, Richard N. Hanson of Stonington, told state police he drove his car across the Soo Line tracks at the north end of Pioneer Trail Park about 10:30 p. m. and the jolt of the car snapped Miss LeClaire's neck, causing her to become unconscious. Hanson ran to a gas station at the park entrance and summoned an ambulance. X-ray examination at the hospital did not reveal a fracture.

SAFETY MEASURE

Airline pilots threatened by extremely bad flying conditions always land at the first intermediate field and call the nearest radio station to explain their delay.

Engineers estimate that preventable night accidents on main highways represent an annual loss of about $6000 a mile.

United States Set To Study Soviet Peace Proposals

it is ready—to negotiate peace.

The Malik proposition, general in nature, came at the tail end of his public speech, the first part of which blasted the United States and reiterated Red claims on Formosa and China's U. N. membership. But those two points were not coupled with the truce bid.

By its nature, the speech raised critical issues for the U. N. alliance fighting the Reds in Korea. Among these none was more important than the desire to exploit Malik's maneuver for all it is worth as a real peace proposal, yet to avoid being drawn into a diplomatic, propaganda or military trap.

By ERNEST B. VACCARO

TULLAHO, Tenn.—(AP)—President Truman called today for a "real settlement" of the Korean war which "fully ends the aggression and restores peace and security."

This was his reply to the proposal by Russian UN delegate Jacob A. Malik Saturday for a cease-fire and withdrawal of troops from the area of the 38th parallel.

Mr. Truman said that the Communists have suffered a million casualties since they invaded South Korea a year ago today and have been thrown back "behind the line they started from."

The president assailed Republican critics for "spreading fear and slander and lies" and trying to "destroy" Dean Acheson, whom he called "one of the greatest secretaries of state in our history."

In guarded language, which did not mention Malik or his proposal specifically, the President told a crowd gathered to dedicate a new $157,500,000 air force testing center.

"We are ready to join in a peace settlement in Korea now as we have always been. But it must be a real settlement which fully ends the aggression and restores peace and security to the area and to the gallant Korean people.

"In Korea and in the rest of the world we must be ready to take any steps which truly advance us toward world peace. But we must avoid like the plague rash actions which would take unnecessary risks of world war or weak actions which reward aggression."

MacArthur Ouster Quiz Wound Up At 2,000,000 Words

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Senate hearings on the dismissal of Gen. Douglas MacArthur ended at last for the present today with testimony from a former Far Eastern air force general that "we made a mistake" by not bombing Chinese bases in Manchuria last fall.

Maj. Gen. Emmett (Rosie) O'Donnell, who commanded the big bombers under MacArthur, said he questioned, however, that it would be wise now to make attacks on Manchuria. He said he is not sure the air forces could do it and "still retain the Sunday punch for Russia."

O'Donnell was the 13th and last witness in the unprecedented hearings that publicly aired disputes over U. S. Far Eastern policies as well as the firing of MacArthur, one of the nation's World War II heroes.

The hearings began May 3 and piled up a total of more than 2,000,000 words—enough to make a whole shelf of novel length volumes.

Hofwyl, in Switzerland, and Krumau, in Bohemia, both established in 1797, were the two earliest agricultural colleges.

British Line Up 20 For Channel Swim Out Of 155 Entries

LONDON—(AP)—Britons, trying to channel the midsummer channel madness into one big splash, have lined up a field of 20 hopefuls for a mass race across the English channel.

The London Daily Mail, sponsoring the channel swim, said today the competitors were chosen from 155 entrants in 23 countries. Last year there were nine swimmers in the race.

The channel derby is set for Aug. 13 from Griz Nez, France, to the British channel coast. Prizes total $7,000 ($19,500) in cash, with the first man and first woman across to get £1,000 ($2,800) each. Britain has five entries, France, three; Argentina, Egypt and Sweden, two each, and the U. S., Canada, Greece, Holland, Denmark and Peru, one each. The American entry is Roy Parks Sutter, 27, of Fort Worth, Tex.

Half A Million To Go Fishing

Sport Never Causes Scandals, Murders

By JAMES A. O. CROWE
LANSING—(AP)—Before next weekend, some half a million people will have treated themselves to that sport which never breeds scandals, never is noisy, and never brings forth the urge to kill somebody—fishing.
Today, the general Michigan fishing season opens.
The day heralds opening all southern lakes to general fishing and the whole state to fishing for bluegills, sunfish and black bass. This combination will bring out the largest crowd of fishermen in the year. The trout, walleye, pike and muskellunge seasons have already opened and northern lakes are never closed to perch, white bass, crappie and like fishing. But none of these attract the numbers that will get on the water starting today.
More people fish for the prolific and delicious bluegill than anything else, and they are followed closely by the devotees of the hard-fighting black bass.

Variety Of Bait
Add to this that the southern lakes near population centers are opening for the first time since last March, and you can expect a lot of fishermen to get out.
Estimates are that about a quarter of a million will be out on the opening day. This will be below last year's Sunday opening.
But fishing license sales are running about 12 per cent ahead of last year, so by next weekend, the fishermen could well outnumber those who turned out in the first week last year.
Anyone who gets on the water will see a vast variety of tackle and bait.
The tackle will range all the way from the lowly cane pole or even a hand line to expensive bait and fly casting outfits.
There is no doubt that the most popular bait will be the ever-present worm. It will be used for all species of fish in all kinds of water and at all depths. Running a close second probably will be live minnows.
However, the more refined methods of fishing will not be neglected. There is a growing army of fishermen who will use the dry or wet artificial fly and its accompanying light tackle for both bluegills and bass.
And the host who will use artificial plugs and spoons on casting and spinning rods for bass will certainly be in evidence.
Advance observations are that many boat livers, especially on the most popular southern lakes have long since put up the "no more reservations" signs. The growing numbers who own their own boats and the increase in liveries is meaning that this is getting to be less of a problem every year.
Those who own boats should have no difficulty finding places to get them into the water. The conservation department operates 500 public fishing sites on some of the best water in the state.

SOLO ON HIS SOLES!—Here's one for the Scotchmen, a thrifty thrill, skiing without skis! Paul Smith of Winter Haven, Florida, is the national champ with the fleet feet in the Tommy Bartlett Florida Water Ski Thrill Show, which will appear on Bay de Noc at Escanaba Monday, July 2, during the OWAA convention. The program, sponsored by the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce, will be presented twice next Monday, at 1 p. m. and 7 p. m.

Painters And Wife
Survive Battle Of
'The Right Shade'

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK—(AP)—The crisis is past. The painters have trooped out at last, leaving our place in chaos but with a lot of bright new colors on the walls.

But I don't think I could ever go through the same ordeal again. I can't stand to see my wife suffer so.

Recently Frances came to me and said:

"Well, I guess you had better go away to one of your wars or rebellions, Rover."

"Why?" I asked.

"Because it is time to have the apartment repainted," she said. "And every time it's happened before you always manage to find a war or something to run off to."

Face It Together

This is true, but after nearly 14 years of marriage I decided to stay home this time, and we would face the painters together.

"You will be a lot of help with your cute little eleven thumbs," sighed Frances. "I don't know whether I can put up with you and the painters both."

My idea of having the house painted was to sit in my favorite chair, sip a highball, and break into encouraging applause whenever one of the painters made a particularly fine brush stroke.

But it isn't like that at all. First you carry your paintings and portable brick-a-brac over to leave with friends. They already have their own storage problems, and they greet you as if you had arrived with a horse to park in their bathrooms.

Next you roll up the rugs and send them to the cleaners. Then you pile everything else in the center of the room. Two bachelor friends and I had a great time doing this. I hadn't so much fun since we "stacked" the room of a dormitory pal in college.

But by then Frances was as nervous as a bride left waiting at the church. Nothing upsets a woman like an upset house.

The morning the painters came Frances met them with a face of complete woe. They looked at her warily. The duel was on. I was rather glad to escape to the office.

Each night I got an account of the day's grim battle as it raged from our new true-blue kitchen to a new unbelievably chartreuse bedroom.

Like A Bird Dog

"I don't know whether I'll make it," said Frances. "You have to watch them every minute, or they'll do something wrong."

One morning I suggested: "You're all tired out. Why don't you just go somewhere and rest for the day?"

"Yeah, lady, you'll feel better," said one of the two painters cautiously.

"You ! ! ! ! !" said Frances. I left hurriedly.

To finish the job three painters came the last day, and that nearly cost me my wife. She had to run back and forth between the rooms like a bird dog to check their work.

When it was all done, however, she and the painters shook hands all around in sportsmanlike fashion. One said gallantly:

"You been all right, lady. You put up a grand fight. See you again in three years."

Maybe three centuries, not three years. It's just too hard on a husband, watching his wife go through such utter misery.

Son Of Former
Governor Brucker

DETROIT—(AP)—Wilber Marion Brucker, jr., son of Michigan's former governor, claimed Doris Ann Shover as his bride in a 4 p. m. ceremony at Grosse Pointe Congregational church Saturday.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bertram Paul Shover of Grosse Pointe. The senior Bruckers also live in Grosse Pointe.

Doris Ann, who graduated from Wellesley College last Monday, wore a gown of white chantilly lace over satin, styled with a close-fitting bodice and a full skirt extending into a cathedral train.

A lace cap trimmed with bridesmaid sequins held her fingertip veil, and she carried a white prayer book with orchids and stephanotis.

The bridegroom, who was born in Saginaw while his father was serving there as prosecuting attorney, asked Alfred H. Lowe of Clifton N. J. to be his best man.

The young couple will honeymoon at Mackinac Island, where the bridegroom went for the first time when he was but five years old. ## OUT OF THE CHAOS

No longer are medicine and pharmacy a medley of quackery and mysticism. The shrines and temples, gods and high priests of medicine are of eras long past. Through the years medicine and pharmacy, imbued with the ideals and spirit of Christianity, have evolved into exacting professions in which magic and guesswork have no place. The results are manifest. Two hundred years ago life expectancy was 35 years; one hundred years ago, 39.8 years. Today it is about 67 years. Our part in the modern health service is compounding prescriptions. Let us contribute to your good health when the need arises.

City Council Meets Tonight

Dog Ordinance Is On Agenda

Consideration of a proposed new dog ordinance will probably be the principal item on the agenda for the city council meeting tonight, it was reported Saturday by H. W. Heideman, city manager.

The ordinance, which among other things would require the licensing and vaccination of dogs was presented to council members at a postponed meeting June 18. No report has yet been received from the Francis Engineering company, of Saginaw, on revised estimates for the city water job, the manager reported.

At a previous meeting of the council, George W. Francis, of the engineering firm, told councilmen that he would revise estimate figures on the water project. His original estimates, all in excess of $350,000 for each of three different plans, were far in excess of the water department's ability to pay, councilmen told him.

The maximum revenue bond issue which can be based on current water department earnings is $250,000, it is reported.

Hult, Johnson Are Unopposed

School Election On Monday, July 9

Dr. Otto S. Hult and Soren Johnson are unopposed in their candidacies for re-election to the Gladstone Board of Education.

Two positions are to be filled at the annual election on Monday, July 9, the terms of Hult and Johnson expiring.

Inasmuch as there is no opposition, nomination is practically equivalent to election, barring the entry of a strong slip candidate.

Other members of the board are Dr. George Kelly, Archie D. Harris and James T. Jones.

Mission In Jungle Scene Of Rites For 40 Air Crash Victims

MONROVIA, Liberia — (AP) — Memorial services are scheduled today at a tiny mission in a jungle clearing near here for victims of the crash of the Pan-American Clipper Great Republic. The plane hit a mountain-side during a tropic rainstorm early Friday morning.

(A spokesman for Pan-American in New York said the bodies of all 40 victims were removed from the wreck yesterday and buried at the Lutheran Mission of Sonveh.)

The bodies were buried at the Mission village immediately because of the rapid decomposition in this steamy equatorial climate. Today's services were to be conducted by Father Mullins, a Roman Catholic, the Rev. L. R. Bowers of the Lutheran Mission and possibly other neighboring Protestant clergymen.

Natives carried 60 headloads of baggage, airmail and diplomatic pouches from the burned plane.

Escanaba's contribution to the Giant all-star team which defeated the Iron Mountain-Kingsford Cardinals 20-5 at Kingsford Friday night was four-fold. . . Russ Hiltonen, Dean Bailey, Tom Kroll and Jim Nyquist all saw considerable action. . . Hiltonen, the sharp little Bear chucker, won the crowd's approval in short order when he opened the first inning for the all-stars. . . The approval swelled to a tremendous roar of admiration in the second inning, when with the bases loaded and one out, Rusty fanned the next two batters to retire the side.

When Hiltonen left the hill after three innings, the all-stars sported a 15-0 lead. . . Rusty hadn't allowed a hit, and in fact the Cardinals were unable to get the ball out of the infield. . . He had been in trouble only because of several walks and errors.

Giant Scout Ray Lucas, who had already seen Hiltonen in action in his no-hitter against Foster City here several weeks ago, again had a world of respect for the Escanaba youngster. . . "If he was six inches taller," Lucas said to bystanders, "he would be worth a $50,000 bonus right now." . . Lucas had another good look at Nyquist behind the plate and still likes what he saw. . . He advised the young athlete to whittle a few pounds off his frame and indicated that some sort of a deal may be worked out by next spring.

The exhibition game was a long affair but was well received by a huge crowd. . . One spectator, who sounded suspiciously like an Iron Mountain resident, couldn't restrain himself after seeing the young all-stars perform like veterans for the first three innings. . . He leaped to his feet and yelled: "It's worth a buck and a half of my money anytime to see the Cardinals 15 runs behind in three innings!"

An idea of the esteem in which Scout Lucas holds Upper Peninsula as a baseball potential was revealed when he announced that he would be back here in August when the state American Legion Junior baseball finals are conducted in Iron River. . . He also plans to make another stop at Escanaba to look over the young prospects here.

First no-hit, no-run performance in the newly organized Little League was turned in Saturday by Gary Paler, mound ace for St. Joe Boosters.

St. Joe scored all five of its runs in the second inning. Bucky Flath went the distance on the Lions mound with Billy Lindstrom catching.

In the other game Saturday Kivnans edged Rotary 8-7.

Dodgers May Have Battle After All

BY JOE REICHLER
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

It may not be a breeze for Brooklyn after all. Unless Sunday's signs were wrong, those dashing Dodgers may find the pennant race a rough and rocky one.

The Dodgers dashed into yesterday's doubleheader against Pittsburgh with great anticipation. They were set to sweep both games and return to Flatbush pacing the National league by at least eight games.

After all, weren't the Pirates buried deep in the basement? And hadn't they lost 14 of their last 15 games at Forbes field? Furthermore, the Brooks had beaten them 10 consecutive times in Pittsburgh, including a 13-1, one-hit drubbing only the day before? And hadn't Brooklyn won nine of 11 on the road?

Lightning Strikes
It took easy. Especially to those who had predicted the Dodgers would win the flag by a dozen games following the acquisition of outfielder Andy Pafko and pitcher Johnny Schmitz from Chicago.

But then lightning struck—not once but twice—as the pathetic Pirates rose up and dumped the Dodgers 10-7 and 5-4 to chop a game and a half from their first-place lead.

New York's second-place Giants overcame a 5-0 deficit to outscore the Cubs, 10-7, and climbed within six games of Brooklyn.

Stan Musial was a one-man show as he paced the St. Louis Cardinals to a 6-5 victory over the Boston Braves in 14 innings. Cincinnati and Philadelphia divided a double header. The Reds took the opener, 3-1. The Phils grabbed the second, 4-2.

Yanks Move Up
New York's persistent Yankees whittled another half-game off the Chicago White Sox' first-place margin in the American league.

The Yanks clipped the Indians,

Waubung Baseball league yesterday afternoon by beating Bark River 4-0 in the lone game played in the circuit.

The Cubs came up with a new starting pitcher in Dick Cass. Cass opened on the mound and went five innings for the Cubs. He allowed only two hits, walked four and fanned three.

Fred Boddy, southpaw, took over in the sixth, dished out two hits, walked one and fanned four. Catcher Jo-Jo Johnston, again provided the heavy stick for the Cubs, collecting three singles in four trips. He scored a run and drove in two to figure in all but one of the Cub tallies.

Lone Game
Young Erickson went all the way for the losers. He was nipped for eight hits, fanned seven and issued two walks. Heim served behind the plate.

Dubord of Bark River singled and doubled for half the hits for the losers. Kasbom furnished the two singles. Bark River had three errors while Escanaba committed two.

Munising failed to show up for its scheduled game at Gladstone yesterday and wet grounds prevented Menominee from playing at Powers in the other scheduled contest.

Power & Light, Paper Mill Win Softball Games

Paper Mill slipped a 6-4 loss to Harnischfeger and Power & Light edged Westby's Service 4-2 in a pair of close American league games played last night at Memorial field.

Paper Mill worked two runs across the plate in the sixth inning to break a 4-4 tie. Tom Dufour with four for four led the losers at the plate. Bob LeHouillier doubled in the sixth to break the tie.

John Pierpon and Steve Vugrin shared pitching duties for Harnischfeger. Mickey Kutchenberg was forced to retire from behind the plate in the third inning with an injured finger.

Dufour Hits

Tom Elegeert went the route for the winners, allowing 10 hits. Dave Larson was behind the plate. Gerald Dufour, third baseman, was the big gun in the Power & Light win, driving in three runs with a single and a double. Barney Millette, center field, had a double and a triple in three trips.

Winning battery was Jim Fitzpatrick and Bud Kenneally, with Ken Buckland and Bill Mulvaney working for the losers.

No Names split their exhibition doubleheader Saturday night before a fair crowd at Memorial field, tipping Clairmont Transfer 4-3 in the opener and losing to Bungalow of Gladstone 8-5 in the windup.

Bob McCarthy and Angie Hirn worked the opener with Sullivan and Baker the losing battery.

In the windup the No Names got off to a bad start when Bungalow scored four runs in the first inning. The Escanaba club, performing in their new uniforms for the first time, whittled on the lead but were unable to close the gap.

Ike Eis went the distance on the hill with Hirn catching. Verhamme and Micheau made up the Gladstone battery.

Clear Sugar Ray In Berlin Fight

Kidney Punch Called Foul In Rhubarb

BERLIN—(AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson today was given a clean bill of health by the Berlin boxing commission less than 12 hours after he was disqualified for illegal kidney punching in an exhibition bout with Gerhard Hecht.

The commission declared the fight "no decision," which meant the bout was held but nobody had been judged the winner. Promoter Fred Kirsch made the announcement shortly before dawn after the commission had met for six hours in a stormy session.

The conference, however, couldn't have been much more stormy than the arena where the scheduled 10-round non-title fight was held last night.

Down Twice
Hecht a light heavyweight, went down once in the first round, writhing in pain, and was given a rest. Then, in the second session, Sugar Ray, world middleweight champion, hit him with two lefts and a right.

Down went Hecht again, clutching his back. The bout was stopped, and Robinson was disqualified. Hecht was declared winner in the second round. This brought about a round of catcalls by the 25,000 spectators and many pop bottles went hurtling into the ring.

When some order had been restored later, Robinson gave this account of the happenings: He told referee Otto Nispel, when Hecht went down for the first time: "You know that was no foul."

He quoted Nispel as replying: "I can't leave this ring. Do you want me killed; we must give him a rest."

Unsportsmanlike
"I'm sorry if the Germans think I'd come all this way to win on a foul," Robinson continued. "However, I'm glad that many Germans at ringside know it was not so. I don't care if I ever fight here again. This was the most unsportsmanlike conduct I have ever seen."

Although kidney punching is illegal in the National Boxing Association rules, fighters in the United States generally are not called on it.

Hecht fights from a peculiar crouch, and it is possible he might have been hit while rolling with a punch. Many observers at ringside said Robinson's punches were perfectly legal. However, a doctor who examined Hecht later said he was hit in the kidney.

Patty Berg Wins Western Open In All-Out Tussle

PHILADELPHIA — (AP)—Patty Berg, the nation's number one woman golfer, has a little advice for her fellow lady professionals—don't get too cocky, girls, or the amateurs will cut you down to size.

It took all Patty's professional cunning Saturday to turn back the women's western open championship bid of amateur Pat O'Sullivan. The 23-year-old from Orange, Conn., came within an eyelash of upsetting the Minneapolis girl.

It was the lack of experience that probably cost Miss O'Sullivan her chance to win the western. She started to use an iron, changed her mind and went for the wood. Away went the match. Miss O'Sullivan smacked a four wood into a yawning trap. She dubbed her sand explosion and went one down. She also blew the final hole and Miss Berg won, 2 up.

Bears Wallop Stephenson, 10 To 1; Bark River Whips Daggett 10 To 4

A fat second inning in which 14 batters paraded to the plate and nine runs scored gave the Escanaba Bears a good start on a 10-1 victory over Stephenson here in a Tri-County league game yesterday.

The win leaves Escanaba at the head of the league standings, a half game ahead of Bark River, winner yesterday over Daggett by a 10-4 count.

The Bark River-Hermansville makeup game, rained out last week is scheduled for Thursday at Hermansville. A win would put Manager Leo Kauf's club in a first place tie with the Bears.

Rusty Bows Out
Rusty Hiltonen, who signed a contract with the New York Giants' class D farm club at Oshkosh, Wis. over the weekend, bowed out of the Tri-County league with a strikeout-studded win over Stephenson.

Rusty went eight innings on the Bear hill before stepping down for Jack Beck, big right-hander. Hiltonen was never in serious trouble and sent 16 Stephenson batters back to the bench with three strikes. He walked only two batsmen.

A misjudged ball at second base in the fifth inning prevented Hiltonen from notching a shut-out. In that inning Deacon poked a double and scored on Tebo's single that Second Baseman Charlie Camps lost in the wind.

Big Inning
In their big second inning the Bears collected four hits and made the most of four walks and several Stephenson errors. Jim Nyquist and Hiltonen singled and Joe Ricci and Doug Peterson doubled.

The Bears put over their final run in the eighth with Chuck Meyers singling and scoring on an attempted double-play that was broken up at second base.

Manistique Edges Cooks 9-8 In 12-Inning Bay De Noc Contest

MANISTIQUE — The Manistique Cardinals grabbed first place in the Bay de Noc Baseball league standings yesterday by nipping previously undefeated Cooks 9-8 in 12 innings.

Manistique scored five runs in the eighth inning to knot the score at 8-8 with the winning run coming in the top of the 12th.

Norman Jahn opened on the Cardinal mound and gave up four hits before Carlson came in for the seventh. Demars was effective for Cooks until the eighth when the roof caved in and Halverson was called on in a relief role.

In another Bay de Noc game yesterday Perkins swamped Fayette 18 to 5 at Perkins. Playing for the first time with all regulars in the lineup, Perkins scored seven big runs in a hectic third inning.

Newhouse was the winning pitcher, allowing seven hits and fanning eight. Pizzallo fanned 11 and J. VanRemortel three for the losers.

Batting—Stan Musial, Cardinals—Musial homered in the eighth, drove in the tying run in the ninth with a double, doubled again in the 14th and scored the run that gave St. Louis a 6-5 victory over Boston's Braves.

Pitching—Max A. Lane, Cardinals—Pitched five scoreless innings in relief after replacing Tom Poholsky in the 10th as the Cards climaxed an uphill battle against the Braves.

Manistique Cardinals grabbed first place in the Bay de Noc Baseball league standings yesterday by nipping previously undefeated Cooks 9-8 in 12 innings.

It was the third straight win for Manistique and snapped a four-game winning streak for Cooks.

Manistique scored five runs in the eighth inning to knot the score at 8-8 with the winning run coming in the top of the 12th.

City traffic congestion is adding well over $1 billion a year to the cost of operating American pas-senger cars, Automobile Club of Michigan reported. The Club cited studies to show that current congestion adds a minimum of six-tenths of a cent a mile to cost of 185 billion miles driven in cities each year.

Lorelei, 1951 Model, Upsets Boatsmen As Rhine Tourist Lure

By RICHARD K. O'MALLEY
ST. GOARSHAUSEN, Germany. —(AP)—Rhine River boatsmen sail uneasily past this Rhine River city. The Lorelei is out again.
Legend has it that blonde, beautiful Lorelei used to lure boats to destruction on the rock named after her by sunning her charms where sailors could see.
Lorelei, 1951 model, is a little more down-to-earth. When she's not greeting tourists here, or combing out her 40 inches of brown hair for their benefit, she is just pretty Gisela Koch.
The 19-year-old daughter of an innkeeper was chosen Lorelei over 12 other girls from St. Goarshausen when tourist-minded wine growers decided not to let legend go to pot.
Next year Gisela will be up against a new batch of contestants, for her term of lure runs only for a twelve-month period.
Being Lorelei has its drawbacks.

ROBERT C. SCHRADER, seaman apprentice, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Schrader of 301 South 18th St., Escanaba, Mich., has completed his recruit training at the U. S. Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill. The training is designed to benefit the recruit through personal experience and by academic lectures. (Official U. S. Navy Photograph)

Perkins

Double Birthday Party
PERKINS—Bert Gustafson and his nephew, Harold Mosier, celebrated their birthday anniversaries together Sunday at the Gustafson home. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Mosier and family of Rapid River, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mosier of Maplewood, Mr. and Mrs. William Mosier, and Mr. and Mrs. William Sharkey of Perkins. A party lunch including two birthday cakes was served. The honor guests received many gifts.

Personals
Don DeKeyser who attended Michigan State college, East Lansing is here for a summer visit at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William DeKeyser, Sr.
Mr. and Mrs. Vilas Burmeister of Appleton, Wis., who visited this week with the Donald Depuydt left for Minneapolis to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Haess former residents of Perkins. Mr. Burmeister is leaving soon for Navy service.
Mr. and Mrs. Robert Richards and son Bruce have returned from Kalamazoo where Mr. Richards was graduated recently from Western Michigan College of Education. They are visiting at the Joseph Richards home in Brampton and with Mrs. Agnes Peterson and family in Perkins.
Mr. and Mrs. Albert Wilson and son, Steve of Lapeer, Mich., were recent visitors at the Andrew and Art Stevenson home. The Wilsons will spend the summer at their cottage on Farmer's Lake. Mrs. Wilson is a daughter of the Andrew Stevensons and Mr. Wilson formerly taught school here.
Mr. and Mrs. Isadore Truckey and family have moved from their farm at St. Nicholas to Escanaba.

Eyes Also Need Rest From Daily Classroom

DALLAS —(AP)—School children's eyes as well as their minds need a vacation from the daily classroom routine, says a prominent Texas educator and school lighting authority.
"Vacation time offers a respite from the indoor shackles of near-vision and the poor daylighting found in many outmoded classrooms," explains Prof. P. L. Biese, jr., head of Southern Methodist University's department of electrical engineering. "Nature equipped man with eyes that are accustomed to the daylighting of open spaces."
Professor Biese, now engaged in research for the Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass Co., has just set up at SMU an elaborate laboratory-classroom for the study of the effects of daylighting. The room has movable walls which make it possible to admit varying degrees of natural light from different directions.
HOOKED BIG ONE
The largest fish ever caught with rod and line was brought in by Zane Grey, the famed author. It was a spiked marlin swordfish, which weighed 1050 pounds, and was caught near Tahiti in 1930.

It gets windy high on the rock and besides, who wants to comb her hair all day long? Gisela has cut down working hours at the job of being Lorelei and ventures to the fabled rock only for benefit of tourists.
Her fan mail has picked up tremendously since her selection, and she has letters from many countries—thus far no proposals.
She holds a double title, too. When the winegrowers chose her they decided to make it a two-in-one proposition and named her Rhine Wine Queen for 1951, too.
This job calls for sipping from a two-liter glass filled with wine when visitors arrive. This is a task which can be overdone without proper caution.
But to boatsmen plying the broad Rhine River, this new Lorelei represents more than just a lure to make tourists plank down their dollars in the Rhine country.
Since the new Lorelei took to sitting on the fabled rock, they say, there had been several minor boat collisions.
P. S.: Miss Koch is quite a curvy girl.

Germfask

Post 8962 Annual Picnic
GERMFASK — The Edward James Doran Post 8962 Veterans of Foreign Wars, Germfask, are sponsoring their annual picnic July 4, at the old CCC Camp grounds at Germfask. There will be games and races for the children. Refreshments and plate lunches will be served, soft ball game and a bicycle parade will be held with prizes, including a combination radio and phonograph. Tickets can be procured from members or on the grounds. Dancing will begin at 3 p. m. The proceeds will be used to complete the V. F. W. building.

Utah Millionaire, Marriner S. Eccles, Quits Federal Post

WASHINGTON — (AP)—Ending a stormy 17 years in government service, Marriner S. Eccles will leave the federal reserve board July 14, some 6½ years before expiration of a term President Roosevelt named him to in 1944.
The Utah millionaires, now 61, sent his resignation yesterday to President Truman, who demoted him 3½ years ago from the chairmanship of that board he had headed for the preceding 12 years. President Roosevelt also had named Eccles federal reserve chairman.
In the letter, Eccles said "it has been a great honor and privilege to serve my country for so many years, but I now feel the time has arrived when I can and should return to my home and private business affairs in the west."
